BIOGRAPHICAL NOTES

George Stewart McIntosh, born Fort House, Dundee, Scotland on March 16, 1935 of parents Ernest Sheldon McIntosh & Elizabeth Johnstone Watson Bathie; educated at Harris Academy Dundee. His parents were members of McCheyne Memorial Church of Scotland and Stewart was a member of the 9th. Co. Boys Brigade there; the family moved to Stretford, Manchester in 1953 and Stewart attended Manchester College of Science and Technology 1953-56 attaining only an Inter.Bsc. in mechanical engineering. He spent 2 years National Service Nov. 1956-58 in the RAF as a general fitter based in Wildenwrath, Germany where he became a committed Christian. On his return from National Service he worked in Henshaws, Stockport, as an agricultural engineer, in order to obtain funds to attend London Bible College, Marylebone Road, which he entered in September 1959. He was to remain there for four years, failing his B.D. by attempting additional Hebrew, but gaining his diploma (ALBC) with the college. He was a member of the student council and in that process met, Janet Purton, and they became engaged in September 1962. They were married on August 23, 1963 in Vernon Chapel, Sutton, Sy. Stewart worked as a driver and TV installer for Radio Rentals, Worcester Park as well as assisting in the outreach of Vernon Chapel (Brethren Assembly) to the community while the couple sought God's purpose for them in missioning overseas. In 1964 their first child, Alison, was born and they were accepted for service with the Regions Beyond Missionary Union, an interdenominational evangelical faith mission, and sailed for Peru in a cargo boat, MV Stuttgart, from Antwerp in May 1965. Although Janet was a fluent Spanish speaker, Stewart was counselled to attend a mission Language School in Cochabamba, Bolivia. Not only did Stewart study Spanish there, but he became involved with the Quechua people and language there, as well as being mentored by men like C. Peter Wagner and some early Bolivian Indian Mission, (BIM) missionaries the Shedd's, Minnie Myers, don Robertito, and Bolivian church leaders like Jaime Goytia. Their son John was born in Cochabamba. In April 1966 the family moved to the north-east Montaña region of Peru to work with the Peru Inland Mission and were engaged in ministries among the Quechua people, Bible Institutes, programmed learning and theological education by extension. Their second daughter, Ruth, was born in the evangelical hospital in Lamas, the last missionary child to be born there. They returned, briefly, as a family to Bolivia, before their furlough in 1970 to help in the extension programme for training of national leaders. While on furlough in Tayport, Fife, in a cottage they had purchased before leaving for Peru, their third daughter, Rachel, was born. With the help and encouragement of Prof. Douglas Gifford and Quechua expert Leslie Hoggarth, Stewart entered as a mature student and obtained his masters degree in Latin American Linguistics and Dialectology from St. Andrews University and several years later would obtain his Ph.D from the same institution for research on Quechua religious terms in the provinces of Apurimac and San Martín, Perú.

On return to Peru the couple worked in the San Martín area in the Bible Institute and in home schooling their children, Stewart also returning to Bolivia to the Quechua and extension ministry. However in 1972 they moved to the highlands of Peru to Apurimac to work among Quechua people there, firstly in Chalhuanca and then in Abancay as well as teaching in the Andahuaylas Bible Institute, practising hospitality, home schooling and visiting many remote surrounding areas. Stewart was also elected field director for the Mission and served in this capacity for twelve years allowing him the opportunity for visiting and encouraging people in many other areas of Peru.

In 1977 the family moved to Lima to respond to the invitation for Stewart to teach Church History in the Lima Evangelical Seminary and, in passing, allow their four children to attend British Council schools in Lima, for secondary education. He was to introduce Latin-American Church history into the syllabus, as well as a course on the Gospel and culture.

By 1980 Stewart, with other Latin American colleagues, had begun the first Department of Missiology in Latin America and had also become a member of the Latin American Theological Fraternity and a member of the American Society of Missiologists (ASM). In the late eighties and nineties he became more involved in writing - producing two Spanish editions of a text book on an Introduction to Latin American Missiology and another entitled Seven essays on Latin American Missiology Today as well as many papers, pamphlets and courses on Latin American Church History, Cultural Anthropology, Missiology, the Gospel and Culture, etc. He was a founder member of CEMAA (Centro Evangélico Misiológico Andino-Amazónico), an entity designed to further the growth and development of the Christian Church among autochthonous groups of the Andean region and its first director of its post-graduate centre of mission studies. He was also a teacher in many Bible Institutes and Seminaries of various denominations in Peru including the Peru Evangelical Church (IEP), Christian Missionary Alliance (CYMA), Asambleas de Dios, Iglesia Pentecostal del Perú, etc. He became involved in other projects such as the use of Hovercraft in medical provision in the Amazonia, the setting up of a commission on Evangelical Church Statistics (PRODECO/PROMIES) and the encouraging of national missionary societies (AMEN and the Huancayo project), consultations on Urban Mission (COMU I, II & III) although he remained on the margins of the CLADE conferences and only attended two international conferences as a delegate, Pattaya '80 and one of IPCHE in Holland where he became involved in action against apartheid.

With the deteriorating socio-political situation in Peru with the terrorist movements (SL, MRTA, Rodrigo Franco, etc.), gross military interventionism, violence and political machinations, of the nineties, Stewart also became closely involved in voicing and acting out a Christian perspective with respect to these issues as can be seen in his Fe evangélica y el acontecer nacional writings amongst others and standing with the National Evangelical Council of Peru (CONEP) and the Peace and Hope Commission (Paz y Esperanza). In 1993 he began, with Janet, the translation and publication of José de Acosta's (1540-1600) seminal work De procuranda indorum salute on Missiology into English. He had, of course, edited and produced earlier works on the Life and Times of John Ritchie, a Scot's pioneer missionary to Peru and the Money Memoirs, 3 vols. on the life and times of New Zealander, Dr. Herbert Money, National Council of Churches Secretary in Peru (1940-1965), whose wife, Netta Kemp, was a Scot.

At that time he also became involved in Theological education projects at an international level through ALISTE, ALIET & AETAL.

He continued to be a contributor to several missiological dictionaries, a writer and publisher of poems and stories and published his first novel – Mullingar based on the experiences of his grand-uncles as homesteaders in Canada.

Later in the nineties, Stewart and Janet both taught as missionary scholars in residence (1997-1999) in Providence College, Manitoba having taught in North America also in the Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary, Philadelphia on two earlier occasions. He was also part of the faculty of FATELA (Facultad Teológica Latinoamericana) teaching modules on mission in various Latin American republics.

While being based in Scotland, at the present time, he has been engaged as a part-time pastor with the United Free Church of Scotland and is at present an elder in his local Church of Scotland community while mentoring Latin American students studying at the CSCNWW, Edinburgh and at Selly Oak, Birmingham.

Janet McIntosh née Purton. Born in Cheam, Surrey, on April 8th. 1934, Janet was the second daughter of schoolteacher parents Edgar and Nellie Gladys Purton. She and her sister Vivien were brought up in a Christian home, where Bible reading, prayer and attendance at Church were the norm.

Two house moves were to bring her to Carshalton Beeches.

Educated at the local primary school during the years of the Second World War, she then transferred to Wallington County School for Girls in 1945 and thence to Southampton University in 1952. There she studied for a general BA degree in French, Spanish and Latin, gaining a Lower 2nd., and a post-graduate diploma in education. It was while at University that Janet's Christian faith became a personal commitment and, during attendance at the Keswick Convention, she felt the call of God to serve Him abroad.

In 1956, Janet obtained a teaching post in the Convent High Girls School in Southampton, remaining there until 1960. In pursuit of and preparation for her calling, she then returned to the London area to study for a Diploma in Theology at London Bible College. It was during this time that she became acquainted with Dr. George Stewart McIntosh. Completing her course, she then took the 12-week Wycliffe Translators' course, gaining a distinction in Grammar. Stewart and she married in 1963 in Vernon Chapel, Sutton, Surrey.

In 1965, following the birth of their first child, Alison, in 1964, they left for South America. Initially in Cochabamba, Bolivia, for language studies, Janet made an attempt to learn Bolivian Quechua. Their second child, John, was born there. In 1966, transferring to the San Martin Department of Peru, her main occupation centred on the care of their children and informal ministry of Sunday School teaching and hospitality. Their third child, Ruth, was born in 1968 in the historical Evangelical Hospital in Lamas. Returning to the UK for leave in 1969, Rachel, their fourth child, was born in Dundee, Scotland.

While the children were growing up, both in the lowland and highland regions of Peru, Janet's ministry was focussed on home schooling the children, Sunday School teaching and hospitality. When a move was made to the capital, Lima, in 1977, the children then attended day schools, and Janet moved into lecturing in Spanish her course in 'Introduction to New Testament Greek' at both undergraduate and post-graduate institutions. She also, in conjunction with others, set up a ministry of Bible Teaching and Pastoral Care of pastors' wives and other women in ministry, called Phoebe.

On return to settle in the UK, Janet became a Reader in the United Free Church of Scotland and wrote one or two locally produced and published Bible Studies. She also studied a course of TEFL.

For two years, from 1997 to 1999, Janet lectured at Providence College in Manitoba, Canada, in English 'Grammar and Composition' and started up a course in 'Introduction to Spanish'. She was for a short time President of the Women's Association group of the United Free Church in Tayport, Fife, and continued to minister in small group Bible Studies and women's meetings in Fife.

MACS MONTHLY & Peru News

MM was an attempt by GSMcI to keep all the members of RBMU Peru informed of what was happening in the different regions of Peru: San Martín, Loreto, Amazonas, Apurimac, Lima & Kawai (Ica) while he was "field director". It was continued by Ken Scott as Peru News while the Macs were on furlough and after the Macs leaving RBMU in June, 1986 to form Macresearch. It was difficult for Stewart and Ken some months to find time to write a report!
