These papers consist mainly of a collection of letters written by George Douglas, 8th Duke of Argyll, to his son John, later 9th Duke, and to his daughter-in-law, Princess Louise. They range widely over matters relating to the family, to politics generally, to travel and book.

The arrangement is as follows:

1. Letter of the Duke to his son, 1862-85, n.d.
2. Letters of the Duke to Princess Louise, 1873-9, with one to his mother, 1865.
3. Papers relating to the management of the Home Farm, Rosneath, 1930. Miscellaneous literary papers, 1892, 1894, n.d.
