North West Seaboard

Places to visit for wildlife and landscapes in Wester Ross and West Sutherland

Overview

The North West Seaboard landscape rivals any in Scotland for its grandeur, expanse and wildness. The southern half seems crowded with mountains beannan; in the north they tend to rise isolated amongst small hills cnuic and lochans. The area encompasses exposed promontories rubhaichean, long steep-sided sea lochs and sheltered bays camais. Wooded straths srathan lead inland, and lochs of all sizes are widely scattered. Settlements are concentrated along the coast, and crofts, with fields running above and below houses and steadings, have produced one of the characteristics of the landscape.

The area is formed from three billion year-old Lewisian gneiss - the oldest rocks creagan in Scotland, Torridonian sandstone and the Cambrian series of quartzite clach-èiteig and Durness limestone clach-aoil. The wide range of rock types gives rise to a rich variety of flora and a diversity of scenery. Rainfall is high, summers are relatively cool and winters relatively mild. Species that normally grow at higher altitudes, such as arctic and alpine plants lusan, occur at lower levels because of the lower temperature of the northern latitude and the suitable bedrock.

The small areas of surviving Caledonian pinewoods are important habitats for some species. Oak darach, now uncommon, was once managed to produce charcoal. Ash woodland is limited, whereas birch beithe woods of all sizes are common. All these woodlands coilltean have distinctive lichens, mosses and liverworts that thrive in the humid climate of the North West Seaboard.

The peatlands support the sundews and butterworts which trap insects to supplement the poor nutrient supply. Ragged-robin, marsh marigold lus buidhe Bealltainn and meadowsweet crios Chù-chulainn grow in less acidic marshy ground. Heathers, blaeberry and chickweed wintergreen are widespread in the hills and glens gleanntan. The heath spotted orchid is found on the moors monaidhean where the tiny lesser twayblade orchid also grows.

Red deer fèidh are numerous throughout the area, while roe deer and introduced sika deer inhabit woodland, as does the pine marten taghan. The mountain hare lives in the moors and mountains. Wildcats cait-fhiadhaich may be found where rabbits are plentiful. Reptiles include the adder nathair-neimhe, the common lizard and the slow worm.

Rivers aibhnichean are fast-flowing, and a wider range of species are present where they flow through a richer geology. Some lochs support significant numbers of the black- throated diver learg dhubb which is breeding on the southern edge of its range; red-throated divers tend to nest on smaller lochs. Brown trout bric are widespread, as are salmon bradain and sea trout. Water voles survive in pockets and otter numbers are healthy. Frogs losgannan, toads and palmate newts are widespread and their spawn is seen in lochans and pools in early spring.

Machair machair - a coastal grassland rich in species, and one of the rarest habitats in Europe - is significant in West and North Sutherland. Beaches tràighean and sand dunes add to the diversity of habitat, as do salt-marshes. Around 100 kilometres/62 miles of cliffs, along with the many islands eileanan - some used by wintering and breeding geese, are home to seabird colonies dominated by guillemots and razorbills, fulmars, shags sgairbh, kittiwakes and puffins. Sea eagles hunt above both islands and mainland. Many dolphin and whale muc-mhara species have been recorded in the waters off the coast cladach. The tops of some sea cliffs have developed a coastal heath dotted with spring squill and the Scottish primrose, a plant unique to Scotland. Some sea lochs have a rich flora and fauna such as maelr, a red seaweed feamainn which lives unattached on the seabed and is known as 'Scottish Coral'.

The relationship between the earth talamh, sea muir and sky adhar of the North West Seaboard creates a landscape that can delight, excite or intimidate. It supports all of the species mentioned and many more besides. Much of the countryside is little disturbed, so the careful observer stands a good chance of seeing native animals in their natural surroundings.

Gaelic/A' Ghàidhlig

The Gaelic language has been spoken in the North West Seaboard for about 1500 years. The vast majority of place-names in the area are Gaelic in origin and they often illuminate features of the landscape or use of the land. A number of words in the preceding Overview are followed by their Gaelic translation. It is hoped that this will add to the enjoyment of visitors, and make names that are seen in maps and on signs, as well as in this guide, a little more relevant and accessible. Comparison of the English and Gaelic versions of the text will give further Gaelic names, but sentences themselves are often not literal translations of one another.

In the following list, all the Gaelic words appear first in the form they do in the Overview, with an imitated pronunciation using English sounds. They are followed by the singular or plural of the word as appropriate, again with imitated pronunciation. Stress is usually on the first syllable. Please note that the imitated pronunciations are loose approximations of one way of saying the word – ask a fluent speaker for help if you get the chance!

Cladach An Iar-Thuath

Àiteachan le fiadh-bheatha is seallaidhean ann an Ros an Iar, Asainte is Dùthaich MhicAoidh

San fharsaingeachd

Tha dreach na tire air Cladach an Iar-Thuath cho sònraichte ri càil ann an Alba a thaobh mòrachd, farsaingeachd is iomallachd. Saoilidh tu nach eil càil gu deas ach beanntan is tuilleadh bheanntan; gu tuath tha iad nas buailtiche a bhith ag èirigh suas os cionn chnoc is lochan. San sgìre seo tha rubhannan fosgailte, lochan-mara le taobhannan casa agus bàghan fasgach. Tha srathan coillteach ann a bheir duine a-steach dhan dùthaich agus tha lochan beaga is mòra air feadh na sgìre. Tha a' mhòrchuid de bhailtean ris a' chladach, agus tha na croitean, le achannan a' ruith suas is sios bho na taighean, agus na togalaichean air sealladh sònraichte a thoirt air an tìr.

Tha na creagan as sine ann an Alba, Lewisian gneiss a tha tri billean bliadhna a dh'aois, san sgìre agus cuideachd clach-ghainmhich Thoirbheartain agus an t-sreath Chambrianach de chloich-éiteig agus de chloich-aoil Dhiùranais. Tha mòran lusan is sheallaidean ann air sgàth na tha ann de sheòrsachan chreagan. Tha i a' dèanamh tòrr uisge san sgìre agus tha na samhraidhean an ire mhath fionnar agus na geamhraidhean ciùin. Tha lusan as àbhaist a bhith a' fàs nas fhaide shuas, mar lusan Arctaig is Alpach, rim faotainn nas fhaide shios air sgàth gu bheil teodhachd nas isle aig domhan-leud a' chinn a tuath agus gu bheil a' chreag as isle freagarrach.

Tha am beagan a tha air fhàgail de Choille-Ghiuthais na h-Alba cudromach airson cuid de sheòrsachan lusan. Chan eil an darach paitl a-nis, ach bha uair a bhathas ga chleachdad airson gual-fhiodh a dhèanamh. 'S e glè bheag de choille-uinnsinn a tha ann ach tha coilltean-beithe paitl. Tha crotal, còinneach is lus an àirneig nan coilltean seo a' fàs gu math ris an aimsir thlàth a tha air Cladach an Iar-Thuath.

Tha ròs an t-solais agus bròg na cuthaig a' fàs air a' mhonadh. Bidh iad sin a' glacadh mheanbh-fhridean seach nach eil mòran mathachaidh dhaibh san talamh. Tha bròg na feannaig, lus buidhe Bealltainn agus crios Chù-Chulainn a' fàs ann an talamh bog nach eil cho searbh. Tha fraoch, braoileagan agus fliodh air feadh nam beann 's nan gleann. Tha am mogairlean mòintich paitl air na monaidhean agus tha mogairlean nas lugha ann cuideachd. Tha fèidh paitl anns gach ceàrnaidh agus tha earban agus fèidh Sika a thugadh a-steach anns na coilltean, agus an taghan cuideachd. Tha an geàrr gorm air na monaidhean agus na beanntan. Tha cait fhiadhaich far a bheil coineanaich paitl. Tha nathraighean ann, laghairtean agus laghairtean dall.

Tha na h-aibhnichean bras agus tha barrachd sheòrsachan lusan far a bheil iad a' sruthadh tro àite le geòlas nas beartaiche. Tha an deagh chuid de leargan mòra a' neadachadh air oir dheis an àite; tha an learg chaol nas buailtiche bhith a' neadachadh air lochan nas lugha. Tha bric, bradaidh is bànanach paitl. Tha radain-uisge ann an cuid de dh'aitichead agus tha àireamh nam biastan-dubha fallain. Tha losgainn, muileacha-màg agus dearcan-luachrach paitl agus chithear an siol aca anns na lochain agus anns na pollagan tràth as t-earrach.

Tha machair air àrainn cho ainneamh 's a tha san Ròinn Eòrpa. Tha e cudromach ann an iar-thuath na sgìre seo. 'S e talamh ris a' chladach a tha ann am machair agus tha mòran sheòrsachan ann. Tha tràighean, botaichean-gainmhich agus fideachan am measg nan àrainnean a tha ann. Tha mu 100 cilemeatar/62 mile de bhearraidhean ann agus iomadh eilean. Bidh geòidh a' geamhrachadh agus a' neadachadh air cuid dhiubh. Tha eòin-dhubha an sgadain, coltraichean, fulmairean, sgairbh, fàireagan agus buthaidean ann. Bidh iolairean-mara a' lorg bidhe os cionn nan eileanan agus tìr mòr. Chaith iomadh seòrsa leumadair is muc-mhara a chlàradh anns na h-uisgeachan far a' chladaich. Tha fraoch-cladaich air fàs air mullaich cuid de bhearraidhean agus chithear uinnean na mara agus an t-sòbhrag (nach eil ann an àite ach ann an Alba) a' fàs na mheasg. Tha mòran lusan ann an cuid dhe na lochan mar an fheamainn dhearg a bhios air grunnd na mara agus ris an canar 'Corail na h-Alba.'

Tha an ceangal eadar an talamh, a' mhuir agus an t-adhar air cladach an iar-thuath air sealladh tire a thoirt dhuinn a dh'fhaodas ar toileachadh, togail intinn a thoirt dhuinn no, uaireannan, eagal a chur oirnn. Tha na lusan agus an fhiadh-bheatha air an tugadh iomradh ann agus gu leòr a bharrachd. Ma choimheadas duine gu faiceallach, tha cothrom ann beathaicheadh fhaicinn nan àrainn nàdarra.

Access

Visitors are welcome throughout the North West Seaboard, but all paths and trails require care at all times, and not all those mentioned here are suitable for all abilities. Similarly, cave entrances may be examined by the interested walker but should only be entered by those properly trained and equipped.

The land is managed in many ways that sustain jobs in the area, as well as contributing to the variety of wildlife. Please act with this in mind, and also keep dogs under close control everywhere, particularly during lambing in April and May, and when stalking is taking place between 1st July and 20th October (for stags) and 21st October and 15th February (for hinds). Information on access is usually available from Tourist Information Centres or Ranger Bases (please see below). Some sites display specific contact numbers. The Scottish Outdoor Access Code can be seen on the Scottish Natural Heritage web-site: www.snh.gov.uk

Enjoy the wildlife and landscapes of the North West Seaboard!

1 Loch Eriboll and Strath Beag

Loch Eriboll is an impressive deep sea loch once used as a naval anchorage. There is rich limestone grassland on the east side and more acid vegetation on the quartzite of the west. There are many archaeological sites in the region and at the head of the loch lies Strath Beag with rich native woodland remnants on the crags.

2 Smoo Cave

This limestone cave with its entrance 30m/100ft wide has formed at the head of a narrow coastal inlet. Hart's-tongue fern and other limestone plants are found in the outer cave. An ancient midden indicates that Stone Age man may once have lived here. A wooden pathway extends into the cave and allows viewing of the second inner chamber where Allt Smoo falls from an opening in the roof. Boat tours are available to the inner cave and waterfall throughout the summer.

3 Balnakeil and Faraid Head

The Balnakeil area is outstanding for its outcrops of Durness limestone and associated plants. Faraid Head, behind Balnakeil beach, is a narrow headland with dunes, coastal grasslands and steep cliffs. In summer the headland reveals many beautiful, and some rare, flowers such as the Scottish primrose and grass of Parnassus. A Ranger Service operates from Durness Tourist Information Centre.

Loch Eireabol/Loch Eribol

Iain Sarjeant

1 Loch Eireabol agus Srath Beag

'S e loch-mara domhainn a tha ann an Loch Eireabol a bha uair air a cleachdadh mar acarsaid dhan chabhlach. Tha feur bho chloich-aoil bheartaich air an taobh an ear. Air an taobh an iar tha a' chlach-éiteig a' ciallachadh gu bheil barrachd searbhaig anns na tha a' fàs. Tha iomadh làrach arceòlaist san sgire. Tha An Srath Beag aig ceann an locha far a bheil beagan de choille dhùthchasaich fhathast air na bearraidhean.

2 Uamh Smudha

Tha an uamh seo de chloich-aoil aig ceann bàgh cumhang. Tha 30m/100troigh de leud san t-slighe a-steach innte. Tha raineach agus lusan eile a tha measail air aol san uaimh as fhaide muigh. Tha seann lagais ann cuideachd. Mar sin dh'fhaodadh gun robh daoine a' fuireach an seo ri Linn na Cloiche. Tha staran fiadha a' dol a-steach dhan uamh agus chi duine a-steach dhan dara seòmar far a bheil Allt Smudha a' tighinn tro tholl sa mhullach. As t-samhradh tha eathar a' toirt dhaoine air chuairt dhan uamh agus chun na h-easa.

3 Baile na Cill' agus Ceann Fharaid

Tha Baile na Cill' sònraichte airson na tha ann de chloich-aoil Dhiùranais agus na lusan a tha co-cheangailte rithe. Tha Ceann Fharaid, air cùl tràigh Bhaile na Cill'. 'S e rudha cumhang a tha seo le botaichean, feur-cladaich agus bearraidhean casa. As t-samhradh chithear iomadh dithean àlainn, cuid a tha gu math tearc, mar sòbhrag na h-Alba agus gealag nan àirnean. Tha Seirbheis nam Maor-Choille ag obair à ionad an Luchd-Turais ann an Diùranais.

Sandwood Bay/Bàgh Sheannabhaid

Lorne Gill/SNH

4 Cape Wrath

A range of coastal plants is found on the Cape Wrath coastline. Clò Mòr is the highest vertical sea cliff in mainland Britain and has immense seabird breeding colonies. The beautiful sandy Kervaig Bay is frequented by otters. The Cape Wrath peninsula is used as a bombardment range and is reached by a passenger ferry from Keoldale and mini-bus - the latter only operates during the summer months and when the range is closed. Full information on ferry times and access restrictions can be obtained from the Post Office or the Tourist Information Centre in Durness.

5 Sandwood Bay

The 6.5km/4 miles footpath to the beautiful Sandwood Bay, on the northernmost John Muir Trust estate, which is only accessible by foot, leaves the public road at Blairmore and crosses peatland where moorland plants and animals can be seen. Sand dunes and machair surround the loch, and peaty soils are influenced by blown sand. Here, uncommon plants such as the Royal fern and mountain avens flourish.

6 Oldshoremore, Oldshorebeg and Sheigra

The machairs of these bays are among the richest in mainland Britain, supporting over 200 different species of flowering plant, and are especially colourful in early summer. These plant communities co-exist with the traditional low intensity farming methods of local crofters.

4 Am Parbh

Tha iomadh lus-cladaich a' fàs timcheall air A' Pharbh. 'S e Clò Mòr an stac direach as àirde air tir mòr Bhreatainn agus tha an t-uabhas eòin-mhara a' gintinn air. Chithear a' bhiast-dhubh sa Bhàgh Cheaphaig. Tha an rubha mun Pharbh ga chleachdadh mar raon airson toirm-shligean. Gheibh duine ann air aiseig à Cealldail agus air bus beag ged nach eil am bus a' ruith ach as t-samhradh agus nuair a tha an raon dùinte. Gheibhear fiosrachadh air uairean an aiseig agus air bacadh inntridh o Oifis a' Phuist no o Ionad an Luchd-Turais ann an Diùranais.

5 Bàgh Sheannabhaid

Tha ceum 6.5 cilemeatar/4 mile gu bàgh àlainn air a bheil Bàgh Sheannabhaid, air an oighreachd as fhaide tuath aig Urras Iain Mhuir.

Clò Mòr

Lorne Gill/SNH

Chan eil dòigh air faighinn ann ach le coiseachd. Tha an ceum a' fàgail an rathaid mhòir aig a' Bhlàr Mhòr agus tha e a' dol tarsainn na mòintich far am faicear lusan is ainmhidhean na mòintich. Tha botaichean agus machair timcheall an locha agus tha siaban a' toirt buaidh air talamh na mòintich. Tha lusan nach fhaisear tric a' fàs an seo mar an raineach rioghail agus machall-monaidh.

6 Aisir Mòr, Aisir Beag agus an Seigra

Tha na machraichean mu na bàghan seo air feadhainn cho beartach 's a tha air tir mòr Bhreatainn. Tha còrr is 200 seòrsa dithean a' fàs an seo agus tha a h-uile seòrsa dath ann tràth as t-samhradh. Tha na lusan seo a' tighinn beò le na seann dòighean àiteachais a tha aig croitearan na sgìre.

Handa Island/Eilean Shannda

Lorne Gill/SNH

7 Laxford Braes and Loch Laxford

Road improvements in this area have exposed folded patterns in the Lewisian gneiss. These rocks, originally laid down billions of years ago in horizontal layers, have become twisted, broken and folded through the intense pressure and movements of the earth's crust. The fascinating river estuary has a wealth of wildlife providing good opportunities to watch common and grey seals. Otters often frequent the beaches here, as do many wading birds.

8 Loch Stack and Arkle

Arkle is largely composed of Cambrian quartzite. It is these rocks which give it its distinct white appearance. Birds such as the black-throated diver, greenshank, dipper, curlew and snipe may all be seen on, or close to, Loch Stack.

9 Handa

It is possible to visit Handa and see the spectacular seabird colonies. 30 or so bird species breed there including razorbills, guillemots, kittiwakes, fulmars, puffins, arctic and great skuas. All are visible from the well-maintained paths. Access is via a small boat from Tarbet during spring and summer (except on Sundays).

Coltraiche/Razorbill

Lorne Gill/SNH

7 Bràigh Chamas Bhradan agus Loch Chamas Bhradan

Nuir a chaidh rathaidean na sgire a leasachadh, chunnacas pàtarain taisgte san Lewisian Gneiss. Chaidh na creagan seo a leagail an toiseach o chionn iomadh billean bliadhna ann am fillidhean còmhnaid, ach tha iad a-nis air fàs càm agus air briseadh air uachdar a cheile air sgàth bruthadh dian agus gluasad ann an rùsg na talmhainn. Tha mòran ainmhidhean rim faicinn aig beul na h-aibhne agus chi thu ròin gu leòr. Bidh biastan-dubha agus iomadh seòrsa eun-grunnachaidh an seo cuideachd.

8 Loch Stac agus Arcail

'S e clach-èiteig Chambrianach as mothà a tha ann an Arcail. 'S e na creagan seo as coireach ris an tuar gheal a tha air. Tha eòin mar an learga dhubh, an deoch-bhiugh, an gobh'-uisge, an guilbneach agus an naosg air, no faisg air, Loch Stac.

9 Eilean Shannda

Faodaidh duine tadhla air Eilean Shannda airson na tha ann de dh'eòin-mhara fhaicinn. Tha mu 30 seòrsa a' gintinn ann le coltraichean, eòin-dhubha an sgadain, faireagain, fulmairean, buthaidean, feasgadairean mhòra agus feasgadairean an t-sneachda. Tha ceuman matha ann om faic thu iad. Gheibh thu ann air eathar beag on Tairbeart as t-earrach agus as t-samhradh (ach a-mhàin Là na Sàbaid).

10 Scourie Bay

The Scourie Bay area offers outstanding vistas of ancient Scourie gneiss, and geological dykes are clearly visible at the surface and shoreline. Fine views can be had from the bay's headland across to Handa Island, west to the Isle of Lewis and south to the sandstone and quartzite topped mountains of Assynt. The waters of the bay itself are often visited by both red- and black-throated divers.

11 Loch a' Mhuilinn National Nature Reserve

This woodland reserve situated on the coast contains the northernmost remnant of native oak woods in the British Isles. It is dominated by birch but has rowan, hazel, aspen and willow, as well as a rich plant and animal life – including 177 species of lichens. Access is by foot from the main road.

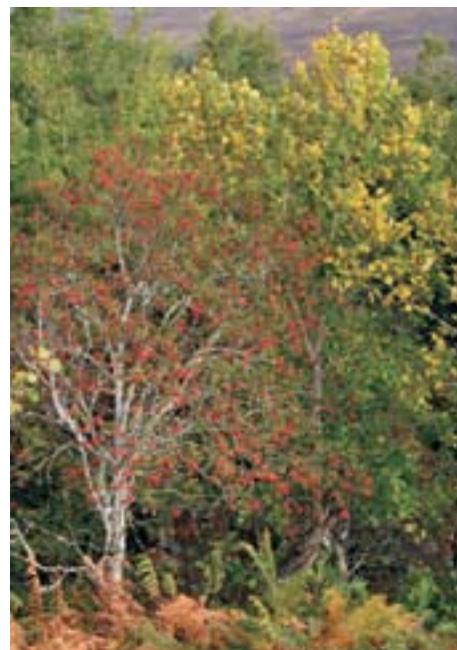

12 Loch Glencoul

A delightful wooded walk (0.8km/0.5 mile) around the back of Kylesku village gives good views of Loch Glencoul and Kylesku Bridge. The Stack of Glencoul, clearly showing the line of the Moine Thrust and the Glencoul Thrust can be viewed from a lay-by near the Unapool Childhood Museum. Thrusts are where older rocks have been heaved upwards, by tremendous forces within the earth, and come to rest on top of younger rocks.

10 Bàgh Sgobhairidh

Tha seallaidhean sònraichte à Bàgh Sgobhairidh air seann gneiss Sgobhairidh. Tha tomult de chreig theinntich ri fhaicinn mun chladach. Tha seallaidhean brèagha o rudha a' bhàigh a-null gu Eilean Shannda, dhan iar gu Eilean Leodhais agus deas gu beanntan Asainte le mullaich de chloich-ghainmhich is de chloich-èiteig. Bidh leargan mòra is leargan dubha glè thric sa bhàgh.

11 Ionad Tèarmainn Nàdair Loch a' Mhuilinn

Tha an tèarmann coillteach seo ris a' chladach agus 's ann ann a tha an fhuigheall as fhaide tuath de choille dharaich dhùthchasaich ann am Breatainn. 'S e Beithe as moth a tha ann ach tha Caorann, Calltann, Critheann is Seileach ann cuideachd, a bharrachd air pailteas lusan is ainmhidhean – nam measg 177 seòrsa crotail. Thèid agad air coiseachd ann on rathad mhòr.

12 Loch Gleann Cùil

Tha cuairt-coise thaitneach tron choille timcheall cùl Baile a' Chaolais Chumhaing le seallaidhean matha thar Loch Gleann Cùil agus Drochaid a' Chaolais Chumhaing. Tha Stac Gleann Cùil a' sealltainn loidhne Sàthadh na Mòine. Chithear Sàthadh Gleann Cùil o ionad-stad faisg air Taigh-Tasgaidh na h-Öige ann an Unabol. 'S e sàthadh far an deach seann chreagan a shadail suas le neart mòr taobh a-staigh na talmhainn agus an cur air uachdar chreagan nach eil cho sean.

13 Eas a' Chual Àluinn

Seo an t-eas as àirdé ann am Breatainn aig 200m/650troigh. Ach glè thric as t-samhradh cha bhi ann ach sruthan. 'S ann air cuairt air bàta às a' Chaolas Chumhang as fheàrr a chì thu e. Gheibh thu thuige cuideachd air ceum on ionad-stad aig Loch Gainmhich.

14 Coille Àird Bhàirr air an rathad eadar an Caolas Cumhang is an Druim Beag

Tha coille-bheithe ann am fasgadh ri taobh an rathaid faisg air An Nead – fuigheall na coille a bha uair a' còmhdaich cuid mhòr dheniar-thuath. Tha Caorann, Calltann, Critheann, Leamhan agus Darach a' fàs còmhla ris a' bheithe. Tha taiseachd nan gleann is nam bealach a' freagairt gu math air iomadh seòrsa còinnich is crotail. Tha cruth luasanach nam beann, na dromannan creagach agus na lochain le Beinn Chuinneig os an cionn bitheanta mar shealladh 'Lewisian'.

15 An Druim Beag

A' coimhead gu tuath on Druim Bheag tha seallaidhean iongantach de Bheinn Stac, Eilean Shannda agus na h-eileanan beaga ann am Bàgh Eadar Dhà Chaolais. Tha an learg mhòr a' faighinn gu leòr bidhe sa mhui agus chithear i a' sgiathalaich air ais 's air adhart. Tha an iolair'-mhara ri faicinn gu math tric cuideachd a-nis.

13 Eas a' Chual Àluinn

At 200m/650ft this is the highest waterfall in Britain (though in summer it is often reduced to a trickle). It is best viewed from the boat trip from Kylesku, or it can be reached by a path leading from the lay-by at Loch Gainmhich.

14 Ardvar Woods on the Kylesku to Drumbeg Road

Beside the road near the village of Nedd are sheltered birch woods - remnants of the once extensive north-western forests. Birch is mixed with rowan, hazel, aspen, wych elm and oak. The humid glens and gorges provide ideal conditions for many moss and lichen species. The undulating hills, rocky ridges and numerous lochans dominated by the mountain Quinag are typical of the scenery formed on Lewisian gneiss.

15 Drumbeg

The viewpoint at Drumbeg gives magnificent vistas northwards including Ben Stack, Handa Island and the small islands of Eddrachillis Bay. Red-throated divers feed at sea and can be seen flying back and forward, and sightings of white-tailed sea eagles are becoming quite regular.

16 The Old Man of Stoer

The Torridonian sandstone cliffs of Stoer are markedly different from the surrounding Lewisian Gneiss coastline. The tall cliffs with stacks, caves and arches are used by a variety of breeding seabirds. Whales, dolphins and porpoises are regularly seen from the lighthouse car park. There is a 3km/1.5 miles walk from near there to the Old Man of Stoer, a 61m/200ft seastack.

17 Clachtoll Beach

Clachtoll is a crofting township with a beautiful secluded sandy beach and a machair which is managed for wild flowers. It is a great place for exploring rockpools. Once a salmon netting station, the bothy and icehouse have been carefully restored. A short walk (1.6km/1 mile) along the north coast leads to Clachtoll Broch, an Iron-age fort. Information about the area can be obtained from the Ranger Service hut in the beach car park.

18 Achmelvich

The bay at Achmelvich is a good place to see black-throated and red-throated divers throughout the year, and sometimes great-northern divers in winter. Minke whales can be seen from the shore, and porpoises reside in the harbour in the summer. From the camp site, there is a beautiful coastal walk to the ruined meal mill at Altanabradhan. Frog, fragrant and northern marsh orchids are just a few of the flowers along the coast. There is a Ranger Service hut in the beach car park.

19 Culag Woods, Lochinver

A series of paths wander through the delightful mixed woodland of Culag Woods behind Lochinver. These include a sculpture trail and the 'Are-You-Brave-Enough Trail'. Pine martens live here and otters might be seen on the White Shore.

20 Kirkaig

The path from the bridge over the River Kirkaig runs along the riverside, through ancient woodland of birch, rowan, hazel and aspen, and out to the open moorland. About 4km/2 miles along the walk are the dramatic 18m/60ft Falls of Kirkaig. Dippers, wagtails and common sandpipers feed along the river; tree pipits, wood warblers and pine martens live in the woods, and breeding dunlin and greenshank can be heard every spring higher up the path.

21 Little Assynt

Little Assynt Estate, owned by the local community, is a mixture of moorland, bog with scattered trees, and many lochans. It has been planted with native trees. Paths include an all-abilities path and a circular walk which takes in the old cleared township of Beannach where ruins lie amongst lazy beds and other evidence of past cultivations. Today, in the shadow of the pinnacles of Quinag, the remote landscape is home to otters, badgers and golden eagles. There are two car parks beside the A837.

22 Loch Assynt

The ruins of Ardvreck Castle stand on the shores of Loch Assynt, which was carved out by glaciers in the last ice-age. Its small islands are covered in Scots pine trees and it is a favourite trout and salmon loch with visiting anglers.

23 Inchnadamph and the River Caves

This plateau between Loch Assynt and Ben More Assynt is of great geological and landform interest and is also well known for its rich and varied plant life including mountain avens, globeflower and holly fern. Its limestone scenery, such as cave entrances (belonging to the biggest system in Scotland), disappearing rivers and limestone pavements can be seen best by walking up Traligill glen. Cars can be left at the car park near the hotel. From here walkers can gain access to Assynt's only Munros: Ben More Assynt and Conival.

24 Inchnadamph Bone Caves

Caves above Allt Nan Uamh are among the most interesting in Scotland. Excavations have revealed bones of the animals that inhabited this part of Scotland during the last ice age, some 11,000 years ago. They include brown bear, polar bear, arctic fox, reindeer, lynx and lemming. There is a good 2km/1 mile path to the Bone Caves from the car park situated 4km/2 miles south of Inchnadamph.

22 Loch Asainte

Tha tobhta Caisteal Àird Bhric air cladach Loch Asainte a chaidh shnайдheadh le eighr'-shruthan san Linn Deighe mu dheireadh. Tha an giuthas Albannach a' còmhdaich nan eileanan beaga agus tha iasgairean a' bhric is a' bhradain glè mheasail air an àite.

23 Innis nan Damh is Uamhan na h-Aibhne

Tha an t-àrdchlar seo eadar Loch Asainte agus Beinn Mhòr Asainte san tèarmann. Tha an sgire cudromach a thaobh geòlais is cruth na talmhainn. Tha i cuideachd ainmeil airson na tha ann de lusan le machall-monaidh, gealag nan àirnean agus raineach chuilinn nam measg. 'S e an dòigh as fheàrr air seallaidean de chloich-aoil fhaicinn, mar na slighean a-steach do dh'uamhan, nach eil an samhail ann an Alba, aibhnichean a tha a' dol à sealladh agus cabhsairean de chloich-

Sites/Làraich 25-42

25 Knockan Crag National Nature Reserve

This is one of the most important sites for understanding how the landscape of northern Britain was formed. The Moine Thrust Plane shows an unusual situation where older Moine rocks have come to lie over much younger Durness limestone because of the folding and overthrusting of rock layers. There is an unmanned visitor centre, open all hours throughout the year, with information and interactive displays on the landscape and geology of the area, two circular trails for different abilities, a car park and toilets.

Knockan Crag/Creag a' Chnocain

26 Inverpolly

This landscape is dominated by the sandstone peaks of Cul Mor, Cul Beag and Stac Pollaidh. Habitats include seashore and marine islands, scree and barren mountain tops, streams, numerous lochs, bogs, and a scattering of birch, hazel and rowan woodlands. They support a great variety of wildlife including the most northerly colonies of wood ants on the west coast. Golden plover, wheatear, ring ouzel, greenshank and curlew all breed on the damp moorland, and ptarmigan on the tops. There is a good path from Loch Lurgainn up to and around the summit of Stac Pollaidh.

25 Tèarmann Nàdair Nàiseanta Creag a' Chnocain

Tha an làrach seo cho cudromach ri gin a tha ann airson a bhith a' tuigsinn mar a chaidh an tir ann an ceann a tuath Bhreatainn a chruthachadh. Tha am blàr le Sàthadh na Mòine annasach seach gu bheil seann chreagan na Mòine air uachdar clachan-aoil Dhiùranais nach eil cho sean. Tha seo air sgàth sreathan de chreig a bhith gam filleadh agus gan sàthadh thairis orra. Tha ionad fiosrachaidh ann le taisbeanadh eadar-ghniomhach mu shealladh na tire agus geòlas na sgìre. Tha e fosgailte fad na bliadhna ged nach eil duine ag obair ann. Tha dà chuairt ann do dhaoine le diofar chomasan, páirc chàraichean agus taighean beaga.

26 Inbhir Phollaidh

Tha an sgìre seo air a chuartachadh le beanntan de chloich ghainmhche Cuthail Mhòr, Cuthail Bheag agus Stac Pollaidh. Tha iomadh àrainn an seo eadar cladaichean, eileanan mara, sgàirneach agus mullaich loma nam beanntan, uillt, lochan, boglaichean agus beagan de choiltich le beithe, calltann agus caorann. Tha iomadh seòrsa ainmhidh a' fuireach an seo agus 's ann ann a tha an cruinneachadh as fhaide tuath de mhialan-coille air an taobh an iar. Tha an fheadag bhuidhe, am brù-geal, druid a' mhonaidh, an deoch-bhiugh, agus an guilbeach a' gintinn air a' mhonadh thais, agus an tàrmachan air na mullaich. Tha ceum math o Loch Lurgainn suas gu, agus timcheall, Stac Pollaidh.

27 Achnahaird

Access to Achnahaird Sands is from a carpark at the end of a single-track road. At low tide an extensive tidal estuary of sand flats and salt marsh is exposed, fringed on the west side by dunes, beyond which is machair. These habitats, assisted by grazing, support a diversity of mosses, liverworts and the rare petalwort. Lapwings find the wetter parts of the dune grasslands a good nesting area. There are some interesting archaeological sites amongst the dunes.

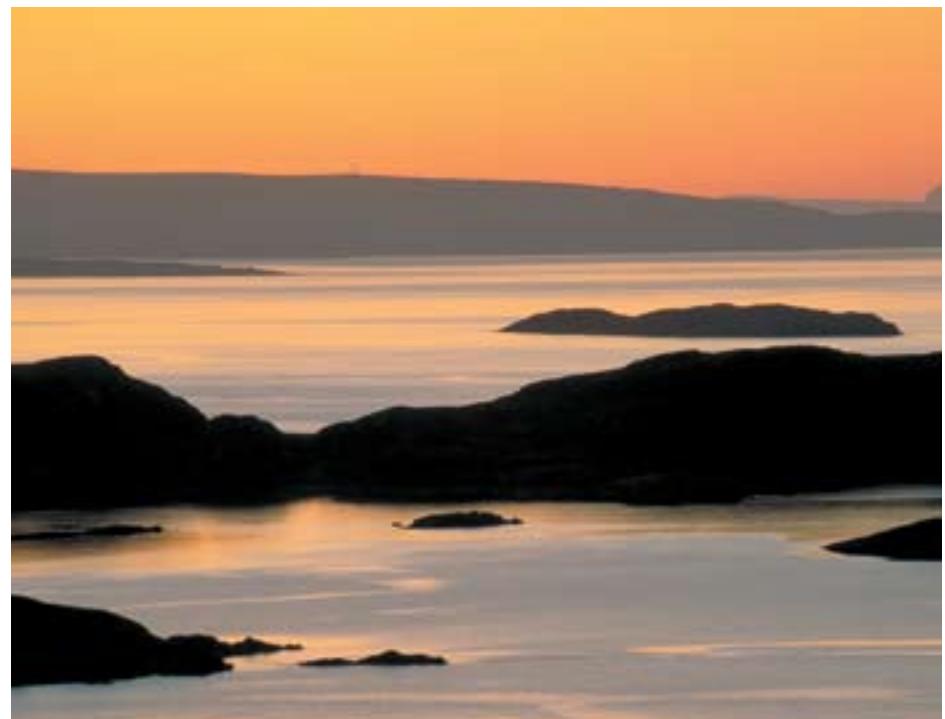

28 Rubha Coigeach Peninsula Coastal Walk

This peninsula is edged by sandstone sea cliffs which in late spring are busy with nesting sea birds. The panoramic views are superb. Dippers can often be seen in the shallows of the inland lochans in search of prey. Access is from Achnahaird Sands car park or the road end at Reiff.

29 Summer Isles

The Summer Isles can be viewed from the mainland and explored by boat. Special boat tours are also available from Badentarbat Pier or Ullapool. Viewers are offered a landscape of rugged sea cliffs dotted with roosting or nesting sea birds, sea worn crevices, caves and rock arches. In the more sheltered waters basking seals favour sandy beaches and low rock shelves.

Tha botaichean an iar orra agus machair air cùl sin. Tha na h-àrainnean seo, le cuideachadh o ionaltradh, math airson iomadh seòrsa de chòinnich agus de lus an àirneig, cuid dhiubh a tha gu math tearc. 'S fheàrr leis a' churracaig a' chuid as fliche dhen roan feòir as giorra airson a bhith a' neadachadh ann. Tha làraich am measg nam botaichean a tha inntinneach a thaobh airceòlais.

28 Cuairt mu Rubha na Còigich

Tha bearraidhean de chloich-ghainmhich mun cuairt an rubha

seo agus tha mòran eòin-mhara a' neadachadh orra fada dhen earrach. Tha seallaidhean sònraichte an seo. Chithear an gobh'-uisge glè thric ann an tanalach nan lochan air an dùthach 's iad an tòir creich. Gheibh duine ann bho phàirc nan càraichean aig Tràigh Ach na h-Àird no bho cheann an rathaid aig An Rif.

29 Na h-Eileanan Samhraidh

Chithear na h-Eileanan Samhraidh o thir mòr agus gheibhear thuca le eathar. Tha bàtaichean a' dol air chuairt ann bho Chidhe Bhad an Tairbeart no bho Chidhe Ulapuil. Chithear bearraidhean le eòin-mhara orra, sgoran, uamhan is stuaghan. Far a bheil uisge fasgach, 's fheàrr le na ròin a bhith air a' ghainmhich agus air sgeirean iseal.

30 Ben More Coigach

The sandstone mountains forming the Coigach massif dominate the skyline of the Loch Broom and Achiltibuie area. 31 Ullapool and Isle Martin

Boat trips from Ullapool sail round Isle Martin to view seals and seabirds, which nest there. A boat from Ardmair run by the Isle Martin Trust, allows access to the island itself on specific days during the summer. The island offers tranquil walking, and is undergoing conservation and recreational development. As well as other wildlife boat trips from Ullapool, there are number of attractive walks in and around the village itself.

30 Beinn Mhòr Chòigich

Tha beanntan na Còigich de chloich-ghainmhich agus tha iad a' coimhead sios air sgire Loch Bhraoin agus Ach'ille Bhuidhe. Tha a' ghaoth daonnan a' sèideadh air na mullaich chreagach a tha coltach ris an tundra. 'S e sealladh iongantach a tha ann nuair a choimheadas tu suas air na beanntan seo a chaidh an cumadh le eighr'-shruth o chionn linntein. Chithear uaireannan an iolaire-bhuidhe san sgire seo.

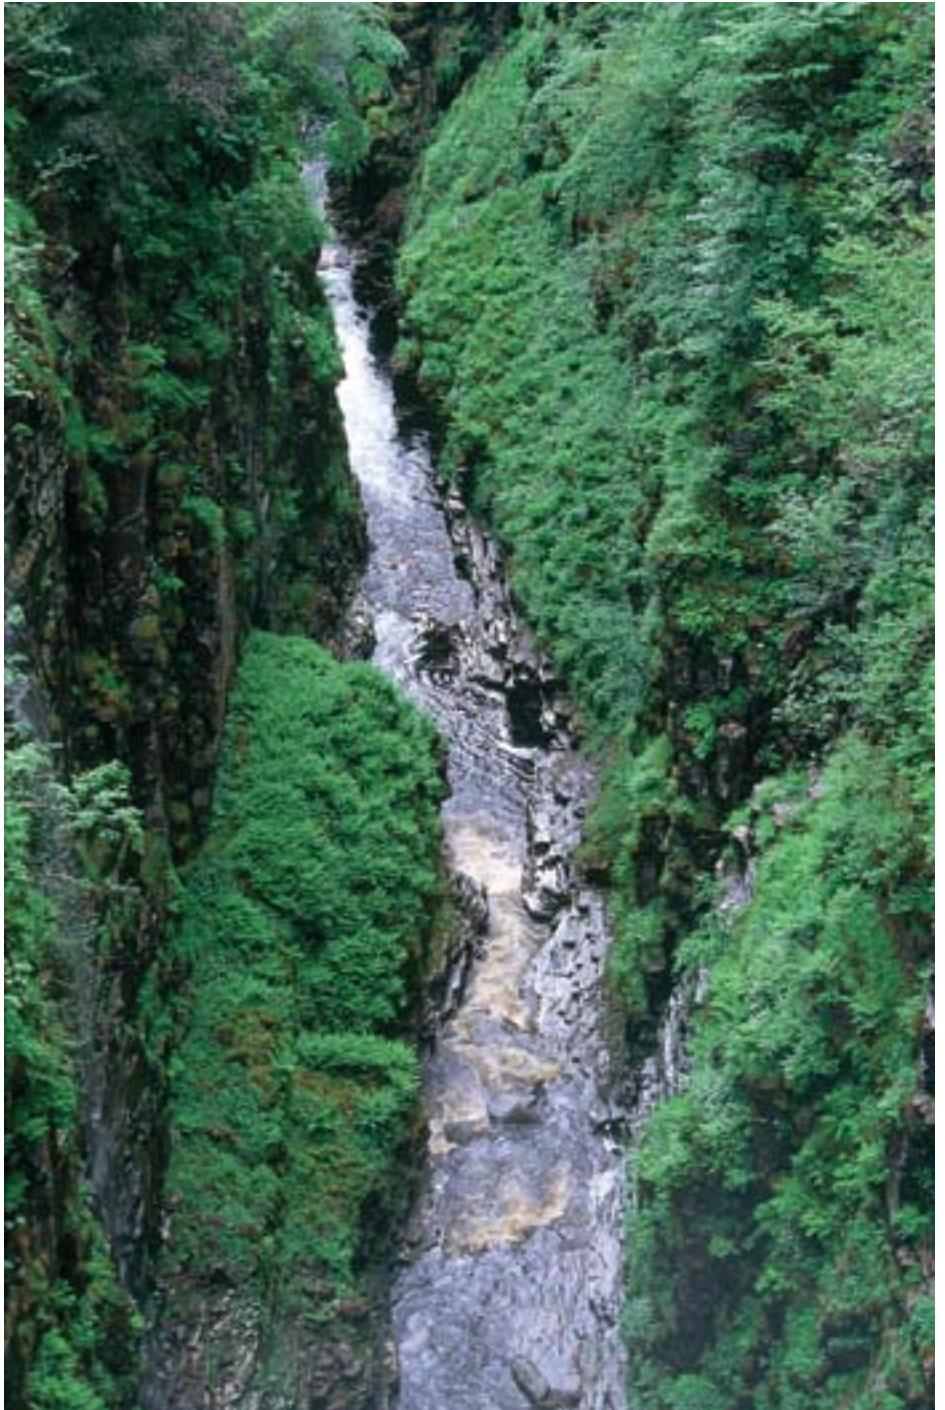

31 Ulapul agus Eilean Mhàrtainn

Tha bàtaichean a' falbh à Ulapul agus a' seòladh timcheall Eilean Mhàrtainn far am faighean sealladh air na ròin agus, cuideachd, na h-eòin-mhara a tha a' neadachadh ann. Tha Urras Eilean Mhàrtainn a' ruith bàta às Àird Mhèar air làithean àraighe agus faodaidh duine tadhal air an eilean as t-samhradh. Tha an t-eilean math airson coiseachd shìtheil agus tha obair glèidheteachais is leasachadh chur-seachadan a' dol ann an-dràsta. A bharrachd air cuairtean eile air bàtaichean a dh'fhaicinn fiadh-bheatha, tha corra chuairt thaitneach timcheall a' bhaile fhèin.

33 Lael Forest Garden

Situated 16km/10 miles south of Ullapool on the A835, this forest garden boasts a fine collection of mature, and some rare, tree specimens. There is a network of paths allowing easy access and enjoyment of the garden itself, and graded walks in the forest surrounding it.

34 Corrieshalloch Gorge National Nature Reserve

The river Droma descends dramatically over the Falls of Measach into the impressive gorge, 1.25km/0.75 mile long and 60m/200ft deep. This was formed initially by glacial melt waters excavating a channel through rock already weakened by vertical fractures. The ungrazed gorge sides support various mosses, ferns and liverworts. Access is from the car park on the A832 Gairloch road near Braemore Junction.

35 An Teallach

This spectacular mountain dominates the landscape along the A832 in the vicinity of Little Loch Broom. The splendour of the mountain and its glacial features can be observed from the Fain moorland south of Dundonnell and from the viewpoint overlooking Little Loch Broom west of Badcaul.

An Teallach

33 Lios Coille Làthail

Tha an lios seo 16 cilemeatar/10 mile deas air Ulapul air an A835 agus tha mòran sheann chraobhan ann, cuid dhiubh a tha gu math tearc. Tha ceuman matha ann agus faodaidh duine toileachadh fhaighinn san lios fhèin no air cuairt sa choillidh.

34 Tèarmann Nàdair Nàiseanta Clais a' Choire Shalaich

Chaidh seo a chruthachadh bho thus le eighr'-shruthan ag aiteamh agus a' cladhach dhan chreig a bha mu thràth air a lagachadh le sgànidhean o mhullach gu bonn. Chan eil beatach ag ionaltradh air cliathaichean na claise agus tha iomadh seòrsa còinnich, rainnich is lus an àirneig pait ann. Gheibhear thuige bho phàirc nan càraichean air rathad Gheàrrloich, an A832, faisg air ceangal a' Blàir Mhoir.

35 An Teallach

Chithear a' bheinn iongantach seo ag eirigh suas faisg air an Loch Bheag on A832. Tha sealladh math de bhuidh na h-eighr'-shruth air a' bheinn seo bho monadh nam Fèithean deas air Achadh Dà Dhòmhnaill agus bhon ionad seallaidh a' coimhead thairis air an Loch Bheag an iar air Bada Call.

36 Badrallach Road

The single-track road to Badrallach, a few miles east of Dundonnell, travels through beech woods and then runs high above the eastern shore of Little Loch Broom, before ending at the small crofting settlement itself. From here a lovely coastal walk of 5km/3 miles leads to the community of Scoraig.

37 Ardессie Waterfalls

On the A832, approximately 3km/2 miles on the Poolewe side of the Dundonnell Hotel, the Ardессie river descends from An Teallach to Little Loch Broom in a series of spectacular waterfalls. The last of these can be seen from a bridge on the south side of the road - there is a car park about 50m west of it. A rough, boggy path leads up the east side of the river allowing a view of the entire series of falls.

38 Gruinard Bay

This sheltered bay attracts a variety of wildfowl and waders, particularly in the winter. Oyster catchers, ringed plovers and sandpipers are sometimes successful in nesting on the dunes in the summer. Sea eagles can often be seen quartering the ground on Gruinard Island. Steps opposite the car park lead down to sandy beaches.

36 Rathad a' Bhad Ràillich

Tha rathad singilte a' dol gu Bad Railleach a tha beagan mhiltean an ear air Achadh Dà Dhòmhnaill. Tha e a' dol tro choille-bheithe agus an uair sin a' direadh suas os cionn taobh an ear an Loch Bheag mus tig e gu ceann sa bhaile croitearachd. Tha cuairt àlainn a' leantainn a' chladaich airson 5 cilemeatar/3 mile gu Sgoraig.

37 Eas Àird Easaidh

Air an A832, mu 3 cilemeatar/2 mìle air taobh Pholl lùbh de Thaigh-Östa Achadh Dà Dhòmhnaill, tha abhainn Àird Easaidh a' taomadh a-nuas on Teallach dhan Loch Bheag, eas an dèidh easa. Chithear am fear mu dheireadh dhiubh o dhrochaid air taobh deas an rathaid. Tha páirc chàraichean mu 50 cilemeatar/55 slat an iar air. Tha ceum bog nach eil ro mhat a' dol suas gu taobh an ear na h-aibhne far am faicear na h-easan gu lèir.

38 Bàgh Ghruinaird

Tha am bàgh fasgach seo a' tarraing eòin fhiadhaich is eòin ghrunnachaidh, gu h-àraidh sa gheamhradh. Bidh an gille-bride, an trilleathan tràghad agus an trilleathan uaireannan a' neadachadh sna botaichean as t-samhradh. Glè thric chithear an iolair'-mhara a' sealg air Eilean Ghruinaird. Tha ceuman a' dol sios bho phàirc nan càraichean gu tràighean.

39 Laide Wood

The community-owned Laide Wood is situated to the left hand side of the A832 going south, just after the village of Laide. It is open all year round and is a great place to enjoy a vast array of wildlife and spectacular views. The natural features which make the wood such a pleasurable experience are good walks, the deep water courses, two lochans and a cascading waterfall which feeds Loch na Creige.

40 Mellon Udrigle

There is all-abilities access to the sheltered sandy beach at Mellon Udrigle. Divers can often be seen feeding within the bay. There is a lovely coastal walk and sometimes you can see gulls and gannets - and occasionally by dolphins - hunting shoals of fish. In the winter, many waders are attracted to the estuary at Opinan which is part of the coastal walk.

41 Inverewe Garden and Estate, Poolewe

Inverewe Gardens support 20 hectares (50 acres) of exotic plants and native species. The National Trust for Scotland Ranger Service ensures that the wider estate can be enjoyed by organising countryside events (including some particularly for families and children), and guided walks to see wildlife and archaeological remains.

42 Kernsary

Just south of the entrance to Inverewe Gardens is a walk that crosses the north-east shore of Loch Kernsary and gives spectacular mountain and coastal views. It takes in a variety of habitats and exits on to a track at Kernsary farm. This can be followed back to Poolewe, giving a circular walk of about 10km/ 6 miles. Parking is available at Inverewe Gardens or in the car park on the east bank of the River Ewe in Poolewe village.

39 Coille an Leothaid

Buinidh Coille Leothaid dhan choimhearsnachd. Tha a' choille ri taobh an rathaid A832 air an làimh chli a' dol gu deas beagan as déidh An Leathad. Tha i fosailte fad na bliadhna agus 's i àite shònraichte airson fiadh-bheatha is seallaidhean fhaicinn. Gheibhear deagh chuairean, uillt domhainn, dà lochain agus eas na dhòrtadh a-steach do Loch na Creige.

40 Meallan Udraigil

Tha ceum airson gach comas ann do dh'hasgadh thràigh ghainmhich Mheallain Udraigill. Chithear leargan mòra glè thric sa bhàgh. Tha cuairt-coise bhreagha a' leantainn a' cladaich agus faodar eòin ghrunnachaidh a' tighinn do dh'inhbir nan Òbaidhnean sa gheamhradh.

41 Lios agus Oighreachd Inbhir lùbh, Poll lùbh

Tha 20 heactair (50 aacre) de lusan coimheach is dùthchasach ann an Lios Inbhir lùbh. Tha Seirbheis nam Maor-Choille aig an Urras Nàiseanta na h-Alba a' déanamh cinnteach gum faigh daoine toileachadh air an oighreachd gu lèir le bhith a' cur rudan air dòigh air an dùthaich le rudan do theaghlaichean 's do chloinn nam measg. Bidh cuairtean aca le neach-iùil agus chì daoine fiadh-bheatha agus làraich àrsaidheil.

42 Cèarnasair

Direach deas air an t-slighe a-steach à Lios Inbhir lùbh tha cuairt a tha a' dol thairis air a' chladach an ear-thuath air Loch Chèarnasair. Tha seallaidhean àlainn an seo dhe na beanntan 's dhen chladach. Tha iomadh seòrsa àrainn ann agus thig thu a-mach air frith-rathad aig tuathanas Chèarnasair. Faodar cumail ris an rathad seo a ghabhail air ais timcheall a Pholl lùbh agus bidh a' chuairt mu 10 cilemeatar/6 mile. 43 Tollaiddh to Slattadale

The path to Slattadale climbs steadily for 2.5km/1.6 miles to a viewpoint that overlooks Loch Maree, its islands and their fine Scots pine, as well as the mountains of Letterewe and Torridon. Loch Maree provides a sheltered, undisturbed location for the black-throated diver to nest. The descent to Slattadale crosses moorland, enters a forest and follows the lochside giving closer views of the islands. Return is by the same route. A car park is almost opposite the start of the walk.

44 Rubha Rèidh

The B8021 north from Gairloch gives awe-inspiring views over the Minch to Skye and the Outer Hebrides. A fine walk from the car park at Melvaig goes along the private road to the Rubha Rèidh lighthouse where there is a visitor centre that is open all year. Sheep paths lead along the coast east of the lighthouse to give views of sea stacks,

Loch Maree and Sleaghach/Loch Maruibhe agus Sleaghach

the beautiful beach of Camas Mor and a rock arch where a variety of sea birds can be seen.

45 Flowerdale, Gairloch

From the car park situated on the north side of the Flowerdale river, opposite the Gairloch Harbour road, a path network through Flowerdale may be reached. This glen, because of its sheltered situation and good soils, allows an abundance of trees and other flora to thrive. Woodland birds are plentiful and the dawn chorus in the springtime is worth getting up early for. There is also a way-marked route that takes you from Flowerdale round the back of An Groban, across the open moorland to the Red Stable at Loch Bad an Sgalaig. A great walk for seeing species and habitats associated with the open moorland and possibly golden eagles. From Gairloch Harbour there is the opportunity to take a variety of marine wildlife watching trips.

43 Tollaiddh gu Slèiteadal

Tha an ceum gu Slèiteadal a' direadh airson 2.5 cilemeatar/1.6 mile gu ionad-seallaidh a tha a' coimhead thairis air Loch Maruibhe, na h-eileanan air an loch far a bheil an giuthas Albannach a' fàs, agus chithear cuideachd beanntan Leitim lùbh is Thoirbheartain. Tha Loch Maruibhe na àite-neadachaidh socair, fasgach dhan learga-dhuibh. Airson a dhol gu Slèiteadal, feumaidh duine cromadh agus a dhol tarsainn a' mhonaidh, tro choille agus gabhal sìos ri taobh na locha far am faicear sealladh math dhe na h-eileanan. Feumar an aon shlighe a ghabhail san tilleadh. Tha páirc chàraichean cha mhòr mu choinneimh far a bheil a' chuairet a' tòiseachadh.

44 Rubha Rèidh

Tha seallaidhean iongantach dhen Chuan Sgit agus a-null chun an Eilein Sgitheanaich agus chun nan Eileanan Siar on rathad B8021 tuath à Geàrrloch. Tha fior chuairet-coise o phàirc nan càraichean ann am Meallbaig air rathad priobhaideach gu taigh solais an Rubha Rèidh far a bheil ionad fiosrachaидh is tha e fosgalte fad na bliadhna. Tha ceuman chaorach ris a' chladach an ear air an taigh sholais.

Chithear stacan, an tràigh aig Camas Mòr, stuagh creige agus móran eòin-mhara an seo.

45 Am Baile Mòr, Geàrrloch

Bho phàirc nan càraichean tuath air an abhainn, mu choinneimh an rathaid a tha a' dol gu cidhe Gheàrrloch, tha ceuman air am faod daoine cuairt a ghabhail. Seach gu bheil an gleann fasgach agus talamh math ann, tha craobhan is lusan eile paitl ann. Tha eòin-choille paitl cuideachd agus 's fhiach eàirigh tràth as t-earrach airson an cluinnint a' ceileadarad tràth sa mhadainn. A bharrachd air seo, tha slighe air a comharrachadh a tha a' dol bhon Bhaile Mòr, air cùlaibh A'Ghrobain agus tarsainn air a' mhòintich dhan Stàball Dearn aig Loch Bad na 'sgalaig. 'S e deagh chuairet a tha sea airson gnèithean is àrainn na mhòintich fhaicinn - agus is dòcha an iolaire-bhudhe. Tha caochadh chothroman ann a dhol cuairt eathair a dh'fhaicinn fiadh-bheatha nan mara bhon chidhe Gheàrrioch.

46 Red Point

Passing through woodland and crofting townships, the B8056 follows the coast to Red Point. A beach to the north can then be reached on foot through a magnificent dune system. On the south side beach, salmon netting used to take place during the summer. The public right of way from Red Point to Diabaig takes just over three hours.

47 Bad na Sgalaig

The start of a footpath through the indigenous Bad na Sgalaig woodland planting scheme starts opposite a car park east of Loch Bad na Sgalaig. At the end of the planting, the path continues between the magnificent mountains of Baosbheinn and Beinn an Eoin to Loch na h-Oidhche. Additional circular way-marked routes take you off

48 Beinn Eighe National Nature Reserve

This Reserve contains the best remaining areas of western Scots pine woodland, which includes birch, rowan, holly and other native trees. Higher slopes are clad by dwarf juniper, and the spectacular ridge of Beinn Eighe affords stunning views. Animal life includes golden eagle, crossbill, pine marten and a wide range of dragonflies. Quartzite scree gives the peaks a snow-covered appearance, even in summer. The Reserve has mountain, woodland and all-abilities trails, along with an award-winning visitor centre with information for all ages.

48 Tèarmann Nàdair Nàiseanta Bheinn Eighe

'S ann san Tèarmann seo a tha a' chuid as fheàrr dhe na tha air fhàgail air an taobh an iar de choille le giuthas Albannach. Tha beithe, caorann, cuileann agus craobhan dùthchasach eile ann cuideachd. Air na leòidean as fhaide shuas tha lusan beaga aitinn a' fàs agus tha seallaidhean àlainn air druim Beinn Eighe. Chithear cuideachd an iolaire-bhudhe, an cam-ghob, an taghan agus iomadh seòrsa tarbhan nathrach. Saoilidh duine gu bheil sneachda an-còmhnaidh air na mullaich, fiù 's as t-samhradh air sgàth sgàirneach de chloich-éiteig. Choisinn ionad an Luchd Tadhail duaisean agus gheibhear fiosrachadh ann mun tèarmann dha gach aois. Tha cuairtean beinne is coille do dhaoine dhe gach comas ann.

Torridon/Toirbheartan

49 Torridon – Coire of the Hundred Hills

The Coire of the Hundred Hills of Torridon is the best example in Scotland of a natural phenomenon created when debris carried by receding glaciers was deposited, forming a multitude of hummocks of sand and gravel ('hummocky moraine'). A footpath opposite the car park on the A896 approximately 10km/6 miles from Kinlochewe leads through this amazing terrain.

50 Torridon - Coire Mhic Nobuil and Lowland Trails

Torridon Estate includes the sandstone massif of Liathach. The mountains afford views of some of the wildest parts of Britain, whilst the lower walks around the head of Loch Torridon weave through salt marsh scenery. Otters can be seen here at the shore edge, and wigeon and redshank are often around in winter. The walk between Liathach and Beinn Alligin, which follows the Coire Mhic Nobuil River, begins in pine woodland, gradually changing into open scenery. Ptarmigan live on the very high tops. Car parking is available at the National Trust for Scotland Visitor Centre, and other car parks around the property.

51 Diabaig

The road from Torridon to the settlements of Diabaig traverses the side of Beinn Alligin, a majestic mountain made up of layers of red Torridonian sandstone, giving fine views over Loch Torridon. It climbs steeply to Bealach na Gaoithe and then passes through a landscape dominated by rocky crags and fresh water lochans. A steep descent leads through the crofting settlement of Upper Diabaig to the sheltered harbour of Lower Diabaig.

49 Toirbheartan – Coire nan Ceud Bheinn

'S e Coire nan Ceud Bheinn ann an Toirbheartan an t-eisimpleir as fheàrr ann an Alba de mhiorbhailean nàdair far an robh eighr'-shruthan a bha a' dol air ais a' toirt leotha sprùilleach as an dèidh a' cruthachadh àireamh mhòr thoman de ghainmhich is de ghrinneal. Tha ceum a' töiseachadh mu choinneimh pàirc nan càraichean air an A896 mu 10 cilemeatar/6 mile à Ceann Loch lùbh agus a' dol tron àite iongantach seo.

50 Toirbheartan Ìseal

'S ann de chloich-aoil a tha Liathach agus tha i air oighreachd Thoirbheatain. Gheibhear seallaidean air na beanntan an seo de chuid dhe na h-àitichean as iomallaiche ann am Breatainn. Tha cuairtean nas isle timcheall ceann Loch Thoirbheatain thairis air na fideachan. Tha biastan-dubha rim faicinn aig oir an locha agus an glaslach agus a' ghlùineach mhòr glè thric sa gheamhradh. Tha a' chuairt eadar Liathach agus Beinn Ailiginn, a tha a' leantainn abhainn Coire Mhic Nobuil, a' töiseachadh ann an coille-ghiuthais, agus an uair sin, tha i air talamh fosgalte. Tha tàrmachain air na mullaich àrda. Tha pàirc chàraichean aig Ionad Luchd-Turais an Urrais Naiseanta na h-Alba. Tha àtichean eile ann cuideachd far am faodar càr fhàgail.

51 Diabaig

Tha an rathad eadar Toirbheartan agus Diabaig a' dol tarsainn cliathaich Bheinn Ailiginn, beinn mhòr dhen chloich-ghainmhich dheirg Thoirbheatain. Tha sealladh brèagha ann air Loch Thoirbheatain. Tha an rathad a' direadh gu cas gu Bealach na Gaoithe agus, as dèidh sin, tha mòran chreagan is lochan ann. Tha cromadh cas an uair sin gu baile croitearachd Dhiabaig an àird agus gu acarsaid phasgach Dhiabaig a' chàdha.

52 Shieldaig

The distinctive pine trees on Shieldaig Island, which is situated on the south side of Loch Torridon, were planted over 100 years ago to provide poles for drying fishermens' nets, but now provide a nesting site for a pair of sea eagles. The island can be easily viewed from the road along the front of Shieldaig village. From here common seals can be seen at close quarters, along with eiders, red breasted mergansers, oystercatchers and shags. From the north of the village there is a good path that takes you up past the school and along the west side of the Shieldaig peninsular where you can enjoy dramatic views across to Applecross and north to Torridon. Marine wildlife watcing tours can be taken from the pontoon to the south of the village.

53 Applecross Village and Path Network

Organised walks, given by members of the local community, can be taken around the Applecross footpath network. The woods in the area are home to a variety of birds, while the bay is a popular feeding area for wildfowl and waders. Just before the harbour at Toscaig, a small road leads off in an easterly direction to a footpath over a sandstone plateau with its abundance of hill lochs and great views of Skye. (9km/5.5 miles with lots of ascent/descent).

54 Bealach nam Bò

The views from Applecross to Loch Carron over Bealach nam Bò meaning the Cattle Pass (and shown as Bealach na Bà on some maps) are awe inspiring. The road traverses a bleak sandstone plateau ending in precipitous cliffs at the high point before a series of hairpin bends drop down to the strath below.

52 Sildeag

Tha Eilean Shildeig air an taobh dheas de Loch Thoirbheartain. Tha na craobhan giuthais a tha air an eilean furasta an aithneachadh agus chaidh an cur o chionn cùrr is 100 bliadhna ach am biodh pòlaichean aig na h-iascairean air an tiormaicheadh iad na lin. O chionn ghoirid bha an iolair-mara a' neadachadh anna. Chithear an t-eilean on rathad ri aghaidh baile Shildeig. Chithear ròin gu math faisg an seo, agus cuideachd lachan mòra, lachan fiacailleach, gillean-bride agus sgairbh. The deagh cheum a' fàgail an taobh tuath a' chlachain, seachad ar an sgoil agus air an taobh siar an leth-eilein Shildeig far a chithear seallaidhean iongantach dhen Chomraich is de Thoirbheartan. Faodar cuairt a gabhail ann an eathar a tha a' falbh bhon phontùn ann an ceann-a-deas a' chlachain gus fiadh-bheatha na mara fhaicinn.

A' Chomraich/Applecross

53 A' Chomraich agus Ceuman mun cuairt

Faodar cuairtean a ghabhail timcheall cheuman na Comraich còmhla ri daoine a bhuineas dhan àite. Tha iomadh seòrsa de dh'eòin sna coilltean san sgire seo agus bidh eòin fhiadhaich agus eòin ghrunnachaидh ag ithe sa bhàgh. Direach mus tig duine chun a' chala aig Toghsgaig, tha rathad beag a' dol chun an ear gu ceum thairis air àrd-chlàr iom-phillte de chloich-ghainmhich far a bheil locháin gu leòr agus seallaidhean brèagha dhen Eilean Sgitheanach. (9 cilemeatar/5.5 mile le tòrr diridh/cromaiddh).

54 Bealach nam Bò

Tha na seallaidhean on Chomraich a-null gu Loch Carrann thar Bealach nam Bò direach sònraichte oir tha an rathad a' dol thairis air àrd-chlàr gruamach de chloich-ghainmhich le bearraidhean casa aig a' chuid as airde mus teid e sìos na lùban eagallach dhan t-srath gu h-iséal.

Rassal/Rasal

55 Rassal Ashwood National Nature Reserve

Rassal is the site of the most northerly ashwood in Britain. The limestone rocks support a wide variety of plants, including wild strawberry, dark-red helleborine and melancholy thistle. On sunny days, small pearl bordered fritillary and speckled wood butterflies may be seen in the woodland glades. The reserve has a network of informal paths. Access to the site is via a gate near a small car park, adjacent to A896.

56 Loch Carron

Beneath the waves of Loch Carron lie hidden natural gems - the narrows at Strome create strong tidal races, resulting in rich marine communities, such as horse mussel beds. In sheltered bays free-floating seaweed, called 'Crofters Wig' rises up and down as the tides ebb and flow. Beds of kelp and knotted wrack provide good feeding areas for otters. Sometimes bottle-nosed dolphins and harbour porpoises can be seen in the loch. The road along the north shore, towards Ardaneaskan, passes through interesting remnants of old oakwood.

57 Achnasheen Terraces

The large terraces on the hillside to the west of Achnasheen were formed at the end of the last ice age, around 11,000 to 12,500 years ago. As the last glaciers melted, a large block of ice dammed the glen forming a loch. Meltwaters drained from the glaciers into the loch, and large flat-topped terraces of sand and gravel formed. As the ice dam itself melted, the loch levels dropped and new terraces formed at these lower levels.

55 Tèarmann Nàdar Nàiseanta Coille Uinnseann Rasail

'S ann an Rasal a tha a' choille uinnseann as fhaide tuath ann am Breatainn. Tha iomadh seòrsa lus a' fàs am measg nan creagan-aoil, nam measg sùbh-làir, eilibear agus cluas an fhèidh. Air latha grianach, chithear dealbhan nan neamhnaid agus dealbhan breac na coille sna doireachan. Tha iomadh ceum neo-fhoirmeil san tèarmann. Gheibh thu ann tro gheata faisg air pàirc bheag chàraichean faisg air an A896.

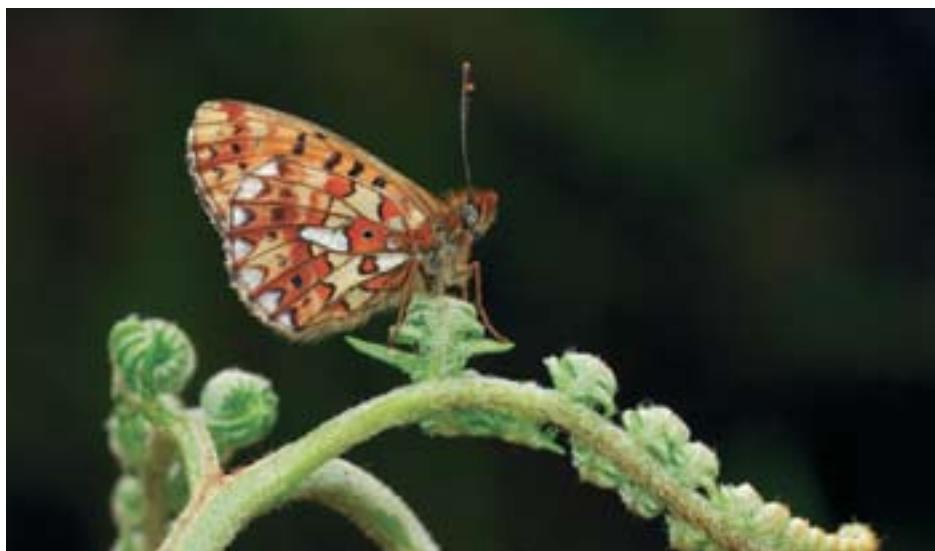

56 Loch Carrann

Tha iomadh annas nàdarra am falach fo na tuinn ann an Loch Carrann – tha an caolas aig an t-Sròm Dhearg a' déanamh shruthan làidir san làn. Tha seo a' ciallachadh gu bheil muir-bheatha bheartach an seo, mar imirean de dh'fheusgain mhòra. Tha feamainn ris an canar 'Gruag a' Chroiteir" a' seòladh sna bàghan fasgach, ag èirigh 's a' dol fodha a rèir lionadh is tràghadh a' mhuir-làin. Tha ceilp is feamainn-bhalgainn gu leòr ann dha na biastan-dubha. Uaireannan, bidh leumadairean is pèileagan san loch. Tha an rathad a tha a' leantainn a' chladaich a tuath, a dh'ionnsaigh Àird an Easgáinn, a' dol tro dhe na tha air fhàgail de choille-dharaich agus tha e gu math inntinneach.

57 Uchdaich Ach na Sine

Tha uchdaich mhòra air slios na beinne an iar air Ach na Sine a chaidh a chruthachadh nuair a chriochnaich an linn deighe mu dheireadh o chionn 11,000 is 12,500 bliadhna. Mar a bha eighr'-shruthan ag aiteamh, dhùin cnap mòr deighe an gleann agus chaidh loch a chruthachadh. Thraoigh an t-uisge aiteimh bho na h-eighr'-shruthan dhan loch agus chaidh uchdaich mhòra le mullaich chòmhnhard a chruthachadh à gainmhich is grinneal. Mar a thàinig aiteamh air a' chnap deighe fhéin, leagadh doimhneachd an locha agus chaidh uchdaich ùra a chruthachadh aig na h-irean sin a bha a-nis na b'isle.
